HE AND HIS PARTNER, A. N. RANKIN, ARRAIGNED.

CHARGED BY A. J. WILLETS WITH THE LARCENT OF SECURITIES AND FAILURE TO PAY A NOTE

-WHAT TRASK SAYS IN DEPENCE. The failure of Wayland Trask & Co., stock brokers, at No. 18 Wall-st., early last year, had an outcome yesterday in a criminal court proneeding, when the partners, Wayland Trask, fifty-three years old, of No. 241 Adelphi-st., Brooklyn, and Alfred N. Rankin, forty-five years old, of the Hotel Majestic, Seventy-second-st. and Central Park West, were arraigned in Centre Street Court on a charge of grand larceny preferred by Andrew J. Willets, of No. 157 Hancock-st., Brooklyn. The complainant is a member of the New-York Produce Exchange, and is associated in the grain business with Bowne, at the foot of Smith-st., Brooklyn. He swore out the warrant for the arrest of Trask and Rankin Thursday, and the bankers were arrested in their offices yesterday shortly Willets in his complaint swears that on September 3, 1895, he began business relations with the firm, which he details at great length. The specific charge is the larceny of two first mortgage bonds of the Hecker-Jones-Jewell Milling Company, worth more than $2,000, the larceny of 700 shares of lowa Central common stock, the non-payment of a promissory note for $5,000, and the obtaining of 1,000 shares of stock of the Columbian Equipment Company by false representations.

Magistrate Cornell placed the prisoners under bail of $2,000 each for examination on Monday morning, February 15, at 10 o'clock. Eatl was Concerning his arrest Mr. Trask said: "Willets speculated through our firm. He deposited with us as security for margin two bonds for $1,000 each of the Hecker-Jones-Jewell Milling Company. At times he was ahead and took his profits. When our firm failed in May last he owed us $700. Subsequent to our assignment he owed us $700. Subsequent to our assignment he tried to get his bonds back. Through our attorneys, Hotchkiss & Maddox, we presented a compromise to our creditors, which was accepted by all except Willets. Not getting his bonds, he caused our arrest. His bonds in common with all our assets were turned into cash by our assigner." by our assignee.

S. W. Bowne, by whom Willets is employed, said he knew nothing of the action of Willets, whom he had not seen since Monday, the only whom he had not seen since Monday, the only day of the week on which he was in the habit of seeing him. None of the money used by Wil-lets in speculation belonged to Mr. Bowne. Wayland Trask is one of the best-known brokers in Wall Street. He failed early last year. A SERVANT FRIGHTFULLY BURNED.

WITH HER CLOTHING ABLAZE SHE BUSHES THROUGH HALLWAYS, LEAVING A TRAIL OF FIRE BEHIND.

Mary Boylan, twenty years old, a servant in the employ of Mrs. Rose Wilhelmina, who lives with her husband and four children on the third floor of the flathouse at Second-ave, and Seventy-ninth-st, was so badly burned at 8 o'clock yesterday orning by her clothing catching fire from a stove that she will probably die. She is in the Presbyterian Hospital.

The young woman was building a wood fire in a small cylinder stove that stands in the diningflames from the burning wood escaped from the rear of the stove and mounted several feet into the air. The young woman seized the disconnected pipe with her apren and attempted to replace it on the stove. In doing so her apron caught fire She ran screaming into an adjoining bedroom, where Mrs. Wilhelmina was caring for her three children. Mrs. Wilhelmina seized a blanket and threw it over the young woman who, distracted threw off the blanket and rushed out of the dir rth floor of the house, screaming with agony and leaving a trail of burning fragments of cloth-

Reaching the hallway on the fourth floor of the young woman rushed into the flat of Mrs. Madden, who was at first paralyzed with fright at the burning apparition that appeared in the doorway, but she quickly recovered her presence of mind and, seizing a pillow, covered the burning girl's head with it while at the same time burning girl's head with it white at the same the same and guilts over the girl's body, and with a pail of water put out the flames.

A BABY'S BODY IN THE RUNAWAY.

THE HORSE BREAKS AWAY FROM HIS DRIVER AND RUNS TWO MILES IN SECOND-AVE .-

NO DAMAGE DONE.

A big bay horse, dragging a heavy top buggy, tore along Second-ave, underneath the elevated road structure toward the Harlem River about 7:30 o'clock last night. The reins were dragging along at the eide of the vehicle and every block or two some man or boy who would have liked to stop the runaway ran out toward the horse and waved his arms and hat in the air to stop him. The horse the buggy swerved dangerously near to elevatedroad pillars, just missed any number of horsecars going both up and down, and finally, by a stroke of the bows of a crosstown cable-car at One-hundred and-twenty-fifth-st., it was stopped at One-hundredand-twenty-ninth-st., tired out by the deep snow, after a run all the way from Eighty-eighth-st. Through the entire journey uptown there lay in the bottom of the buggy a little brown casket trimmed with silver screws in which was the body of a three-months-old baby. John Donovan, the driver for Frank C. White, an undertaker, of No. 427 East One-hundred-and-fifteenth-st., had been at the Hospital of St. John's Guild, at Sixty-first-st., where the infant, William Slattery, son of James Slattery, of No. 310 East One-hundred-and-fourteenth-st., died yesterday morning. There he had prepared the yesterday morning. There he had prepared the little body for burial, and it was to be quietly taken to Caivary Cemetery from the undertaker's rooms for burial.

At Eighty-eighth-st, and Second-ave, on his journey uptown, a trace became loose, and Donovan got out to fix it. Just then the horse started away so suddenly that Donovan could not seize his reins. Policeman Reflly, of the East One-hundred-and-twenty-sixth-st, tattion, heard yells from down the avenue while standing at One-hundred-and-twenty-ninth-st, and saw the runaway coming. The horse was already slowing up, for he saw the wall at the end of the avenue ahead of him. When Rellly ran put in front of him he stopped. Rellly led him to the station, and Mr. White, whose name was on the vehicle, was informed. The little burden in the wagon was still safe. With the exception of some breaks in the wagon gear, no damage had been done.

A MUSIC HALL PROPRIETOR ARRESTED. Max Gombossy, proprietor of the music hall at No. 55 Bowery, was arrested last night by Acting Captain Titus for giving a performance when his by Mayor Strong. Peter Walker, one of the singers, by Mayor Strong. Peter Walker, one of the singers, persisted in singing "Sweet Rosy O'Grady," although asked to desist. He also was taken a prisoner to the Eldridge-st. station. They will both be arraigned in the Essex Market Police Court this morning. There was no excitement over the ATTESTS. ATTEMPTED A DOUBLE CRIME.

CRAZED WITH JEALOUSY, A SHOEMAKER SHOOTS A WOMAN AND ATTEMPTS SUICIDE.

Crazed with jealousy, Frank Julio, forty years old, an Italian shoemaker, of No. 189 West One-hundredth-st., attempted last night to murder Mrs. Mary Kolly, thirty-eight years old, a widow, of No. 825 Columbus-ave. Julio had been living at Mrs. Kelly's former home, in One-hundred-and-twenty fourth-st., near Park-ave., until a few months ago, but on account of his habits she dispossessed him that time Julio has been constantly annoying Since that time Julio has been constant, and back to Mrs. Kelly, and begging her to take him back to n in her house. Last evening the tenants of the house were startled by hearing three shots fired in rapid suc-cession, followed by the sound of a falling body, and a moment later the sound of another shot rang out. At hearing the shooting Mrs. Herbis lodger on the same floor, fainted, and while her husband was trying to revive her he heard a pounding on his door and the sound of Mrs. Kelly's voice calling, "For God's sake come out and help

Just then Policeman Palmer, of the West On indredth-st. station, who had heard the shots, and Roundsman Lonergan entered the house. ights in the hallway had not yet been lit, and when Policeman Palmer reached the top floor be Hights in the hallway had not yet been lit, and when Policeman Palmer reached the top floor be stumbled over the prostrate body of Julio, who had shot himself in the right ear, and a few feet further on he found the body of Mrs. Kelly, who had been shot in the right breast and right arm, and who lay propped up arginst the blood-bespattered door of the tertibison room. Julio still clutched in his right hand the revolver with which he had shot himself and Mrs. Kelly. He was unconscious, and Mrs. Kelly was groanling feebly.

An ambulance from the Manhattan Hospital was summoned and Dr. Levinson responded. After a hasty examination, he said Julio world surely die, and that there was only a slight chance of the recovery of Mrs. Kelly.

When the Kelly apartments were entered by the police, they found her son James, eleven years old, crouched in a corner of the kitchen shivering from fright. When he saw the policeman he solided and cried, "I knew he would kill mamma. He said he would shoot her. When questioned, the boy said that his mother had moved to the present house three months ago for the purpose of avoiding Julio. The shoemaker and his mother, he added, had been on friendly terms up to the time she turned him out. When his mother went to the present address she thought she had got rid of Julio. About two months are he found out she had moved there, and ever since then he had been coming to the house begging to be taken back and promising to reform.

The boy was taken to the rooms of the Gerry Society by the police. At the hospital it was said later that there was little chance of Mrs. Kelly's recovery, as she had an internal hemorrhage.

The neighbors know but little of Mrs. Kelly on account of her short residence there, but say that from what they could see they believe that jealousy had prompted Julio's deed.

A NEW THEATRE FOR FARCES.

RICH & HARRIS WILL PROBABLY BUILD ONE BEFORE NEXT SEASON.

Another theatre is threatened in Broadway. Ther ave been those lately who thought that there were already several theatres too many in New-York, but the projectors of this one believe that any the aire can do well as long as it has first-class attractions, no matter how many others there are. That may be true, but the difficulty of all the managers now trying to do business in this city is to be sure of always having first-class attractions.

These projectors are Rich & Harris, who are well known among theatrical managers, and some partners of theirs who are not named. Mr. Harris said last night that the plans were not perfected yet. and it could not be said with certainty that they would go through, but he thought they would. Rich & Harris are to have a stock company next season for the production of farces, and the new theatre is intended for the use of the company.

theatre is intended for the use of the company. If there were any existing theatre in New-York that Just suited the purpose, Mr. Harris said, and he could get the use of it for all the time that he wanted, he would not think of building one. There was no such theatre, however, and ne could see no other way than to build one. "I cannot tell you now exactly where the new house will be built," said Mr. Harris, "If it is built, but it will be in Broadway, somewhere between Heraid Square and Thirty-minth-st. No, it will not be at the northwest corner of Thirty-eighth-st. The arrangements are not yet completed, and I do not want to mention the exact spot till they are. I think I can fill the theatre with good attractions. We have four or five plays already, and I believe we have already engaged the most of the gool farce-comedy actors in this country. If we build this theatre it will be ready to open next autumn. I don't know how any information about these plans came to be circulated. We did not want anything to be known about them till everything was settled."

Erastus Wiman lectured last night before the St. James's Methodist Episcopal Church branch of the Epworth League at One-hundred-and-twentysixth-st, and Madison-ave,, on "Pivotal Points in Life-Individual, National and Local," He expressed the opinion that economic conditions would soon greatly mend so that dollar wheat and fifty-cent corn would not be improbable, basing this expectation on the fact that in fifteen years this expectation on the fact that in lifteen years population had increased is per cent while wheat and rye areas had increased and rye areas had increased only 1½ per cent. The price had been low even in view of this, he pointed out, because in fifteen years there had been ten large crops. Mr. Wiman predicted that one pivotal point in the change to better conditions would be the return from expensive land transportation, this cheapening every piece of bread in New-York or New-England.

WILLIAM C. NOBLE EXAMINED.

MAGISTRATE PLANMER CONSIDERING A MOTION TO DISMISS THE CHARGE MADE BY THE SCULPTOR'S MODEL

William C. Noble, the sculptor, who is charged by his model, Julia Adelaide Price, with having obtained $2,000 from her on a promise to marry her, was examined in Essex Market Police Court yesterday by Magistrate Flammer. Noble's counsel asked the Magistrate to dismiss the complaint, on the ground that even if the money had been lent to Noble as alleged by Miss Price, it was not procured by false representation, as it was agreed, according to her statement, that the sum was to be returned on demand whether Noble married her or not.

This motion was denied, and Kathryn Dana, a oung woman who occupies the flat adjoining that of Miss Price, was called. She testified that she once saw Noble enter Miss Price's flat, and heard him demand some letters, saying to the model: "For God's sake, don't tell the whole world I've got your Noble, after this testimony, on the advice of his counsel, made a statement to the Magistrate as to his relations with Miss Price. He said that when she was introdue to him she told him that she was separated from her husband, and he (Noble) informed her that he was slso married, and was separated from his wife. She afterward went to live at his studio, and he paid all her bills, which were of a highly extravagant character. Miss Price, he said, while she lived with him, opened his letters, and even reproved him before his colored cook for sending money to his wife. Noble denied that he had ever gone to Miss Price's flat to get any letters from her, and that he had ever received any money out of her," he exclaimed. A second motion to dismiss the case was taken under advisement by Magistrate Flammer, and the Magistrate promised to give his decision this morning. ounsel, made a statement to the Magistrate as to

The McKinley League of the City of New-York, zation in the city, with a change of name, met again last evening at the State Club, in East Twentysecond-st., and heard a report from the committee on organization. It was stated in the report that permaent organizations were being formed in all Assembly listricts, each district committee to consist of five delegates to the Central Committee and a captain or each election district. The district committees will have charge of a new enrolment of Republicans, the date for which will be announced soon. Delegates from thirty of the thirty-five Assembly districts atended the meeting last evening In accepting the office of president of the organization William Brookfield said:

In accepting the office of president of the organization William Brookfield said:

The present County Committee does not represent the Republican sentiment of New-York. It is a fraud, and its power is largely stolen. Our aim is to correct the outrages perpetrated in the name of regularity and restore party harmony by putting the organization upon an honest basis, that the will of the majority may prevail.

Appeal after appeal has been made to those in authority to correct the abuses, no matter whom it might affect; but no heed has been given to them, and it remains for us to keep protesting until the wrongs are righted. It seems to me necessary that this movement should go on, notwithstanding the many discouragements we face, and for one I am willing to stay with it and work with it to the end.

Should the Legislature pass such laws as will throw about the primaries and conventions the same safeguards as now protect the ballot-box, more than likely our mission will then have ended, but it will be time enough to determine that when the much-desired result is reached. Until then is us go a determined to

A finance committee, consisting of William S. Bagg, I. Albert Englehart, F. E. Schaefler, Henry Chy Piercy and Samuel S. CHARGES PREFERRED AGAINST DEVERY. Captain William S. Devery, of the West Onemindred-and-twenty-fifth-st. station, has been ordered to appear before the Police Commissioners against him by Chief Confin on evidence furnished y the Parkhurst society. Mr. Coulin made the charges late yesterday afternoon, and they were approved by Commissioner Grant, who is chairian of the Committee on Rules and Discipline The charges are for alleged offences committed thile Devery was captain of the Eleventh Preinct, in Eldridge-st., in 1893. He is charged with eglect of duty and with falling to suppress ouses of ill-fame. An additional charge has been houses of ill-fame. An additional charge has been lodged against him for extorting the sum of $100 from Francis W. Seagrist, a builder, while he was captain of the Eldridge-st, station.

It was on Seagrist's charge that Devery was indicted, tried and acquitted. The present charges of failing to suppress disorderly houses in the Eldridge-st, precinct were submitted to the Police Commissioners last summer by Frank Moss, of the Parkhurst society. They have been hanging fire ever since, and Commissioner Grant and Frank Moss have had several disagreements over the matter. The Commissioners only recently were able to get from Mr. Moss the evidence against Devery on which the charges are made.

WITNESSES CHARGED WITH PERJURY. The trial of Police Captain Sheehan, of the West Forty-seventh-st. station, charged with failing to suppress policy-playing in his precinct, was continued before Commissioner Andrews yesterday. At the opening of the proceedings it was found that several pages of the official record of the trial were missing, but they were afterward satisfactorily accounted for. Charles Trendway, the negro "stool-pigeon," who was put under crossexamination, was confronted with a bogus policy slip which he had identified as a genuine one, and after that he would not swear to the identity of the slips regarding which he had testified on his direct examination. At the conclusion of his cross-examination Treadway was arrested and held in $2,000 ball to answer a charge of perjury. He had testified to having a charge of perjury. He had testified to having pared policy at a place in Seventh-ave, which he at first said was a cigar store and afterward an express office, when as a matter of fact the place has been kept as a cigar store for the last twenty-two years by Simon Klapper, clerk of the Morrisania Police Court, who lives there with his family. When Treadway was arraigned he pleaded not guilty, and alleged that the court stenographer had made a mistake in his notes.

Perry Steddie toolored, of the United States battle-ship Texas, who was a witness with Treadway, was also arrested late yesterday afternoon, but was paroled in custody of the ship's captain until this morning, when he will be arraigned.

Many prominent people will sail to-day from this port on the American Line steamship Ohio, which has been refitted and remodelled for a forty-five days' cruise to the Bermudas and West Indies and Cramps' vessels, and no better ship floats for the cruising purposes to which the American Line has put her. The dining-room accommodates 215, and in this present trip the entire vessel will be given up to the use of first-cabin passengers. Neither second-cabin nor steerage passengers will be carried. All the staterooms are on the saloon and

The itinerary of the Ohio's trip, as far as wind and weather will permit, will be as follows: Ber-ica, Martinique, St. Lucia, Barbadoes, Port of Spain, Trinidad; La Brea, Trinidad; La Guayra,

Curacoa, Santo Domingo, Jamaica, Progreso, Vera

Cruz, Havana, Brunswick, Ga., and New-York. During the cruise 6,333 miles will be sailed, and the passengers will have nearly twenty days in port for sightseeing. A pleasanter trip could not Speaking generally, however, he said: "It would not be a bad idea for Missouri to be represented in the Cabinet. She is making a gallant struggle to get into the Republican ranks, and gave Bryan only a meagre majority. The State will go Republican by a strong majority next time." Speaking of destitution in the West, Mr. Frank added: "The stories of want and suffering in St. Louis have been somewhat exaggerated. We have only the normal number of people out of employment. St. Louis is safe and conservative, and with an adequate tariff bill and resultant prosperity St. Louis will advance as fast as any other city."
